When did Emma's life become all about the daily grind? Between work, her two daughters, and her irresistibly charming yet totally thoughtless ex-husband, Emma's life has neither time nor space for love.

But life is no fairytale for Blanche either, Emma's eldest and most rebellious daughter, who's stuck taking private Math and English lessons after school! If only she could get mom to chill and get off her back...

So Blanche hatches a plan with Zac, her cute young new tutor: they secretly sign Emma up to an Internet dating service. Giddy with the thrill of playing cyber-cupids and completely oblivious to the consequences, they create a perfect (and perfectly fake) prince charming for Emma - who falls head over heels for him. And when their high-speed suitor has to meet the real world, high stakes lead to high jinks for both mother and daughter...
